THE WOOSTER VOICE

A COLLEGE WEEKLY PUBLISHED THROUGHOUT THE YEAR BY THE STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF WOOSTER

VOL. XIX,

WOOSTER, OHIO, DEC. 15, 1909

NO. 13

$100. WHERE?

Every year about this time each class finds it necessary to spend about $25 for basketball suits. This year has been no exception. In order that their teams might appear on the basketball floor in the proper style, the Preps, Freshmen, Sophomores and Juniors (the Seniors found their last year's suits) have spent for basketball suits money amounting to between $85 and $100.

A Freshman lately remarked that it seemed a shame to make such an outlay for only two weeks' four games. Most of us think the same, but because it is the custom we spend our money and keep quiet.

I do not mean to say that those in charge of class funds have been extravagant but I do want to ask what will be done with these thirty suits when the season is over. The usual custom, I believe, is to entrust them to the individual players until the next season when they often turn up missing or too much worn for use. No argument need be produced to show that better care should be taken of the class suits than at present. The facts speak for themselves. A class player surely has no more right to claim the suits he has worn than does the Varsity team man to claim his football togs at the end of the season. Rewards are usually given in letters and numerals.

Is it not up to you, class presidents, and managers, to see that proper care is taken of these class suits so that when the next season comes along the outfits will be on hand without an unnecessary outlay of class funds?

A suggestion: The suits should be kept together by each manager until his successor is elected.

The Churches and the Peace Movement.

To the Ministers of America:

The Committee of the American Peace Society for Securing the Co-operation of Religious Organizations calls the attention of ministers to the world peace movement. This movement is now recognized by the leading statesmen of all civilized countries, and has an honored place among the anniversary days of the schools of the United States. It needs more earnest and better organized support from the churches. The suggestion is made, therefore, that committees be appointed in parishes and religious societies to study and help the cause.

These committees might profitably do any or all of the following things:

Send to the American Peace Society for literature on the peace movement.

Subscribe for The Advocate of Peace, the monthly organ of the American Peace Society, for the purpose of obtaining authentic information of the progress of the cause.

Send for blanks for membership in the American Peace Society.

Prepare and send to Washington petitions asking for the organization of the new International Court of Arbitral Justice, and remonstrating against the further increase of armaments.

Ask the government to provide a fund for the systematic promotion of peace and international hospitality on a plan similar to that adopted by England and Denmark.

Arrange for at least one public meeting every year, in the interest of this cause.

Provide for the occasional entertainment of Chinese and Japanese students, in order that the Oriental and the American may understand each other better.

The minister is reminded that Peace Sunday is the third Sunday in December. He is invited to put this day, or some other suitable Sunday, on his calendar, and to make it the occasion of a sermon on some topic connected with international justice, fraternity and peace. Let the thought of the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Men of whatever race or nation be brought home to the people.

The American Peace Society will furnish literature to ministers at cost.

For further information address the American Peace Society, 31 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass.

Respectfully yours,

James L. Tryon, Chairman; S. C. Bushnell, Burke F. Leavitt, Charles F. Dole, Philip S. Moxom, Sylvester F. Scovel, Charles E. Jefferson, Committee for Securing the Co-operation of Religious Organizations.

At the Vesper service on Sunday afternoon the following program was pleasingly rendered by the Chapel Choir under the direction of Prof. Erb:

Processional—Hymn 173
..... Mendelssohn
Organ—March of the Magi..Dubois
Anthem—The Lord is My Shepherd Wareing
Organ—Ave Maria Shelley
Anthem—O Sing Victim (Parsifal)
..... Wagner
Organ—Christmas march ... Merkel
Anthem—Jubilate Deo ... Stanford
Organ—Prayer Sawyer
Anthem—Sing, O Heavens..Tourne
Organ—Festal Song West
The Sevenfold Amen Stainer
Recessional—Hymn 185..Trembath

The recital given by Prof. Lean's advanced students in Memorial Chapel on Dec. 4, was very pleasing to say the least. The performers were Misses Uhlman, Atwater, Chilcote and Inman and Messrs. Reeves, Putnam, and Peck. Musical numbers were furnished by Howard Crawford accompanied by Max Weller, and Miss Sarah Anderson accompanied by Miss Seelye. The entire program presented so excellently, showed that Wooster teems with oratorical talent.

Castalian.

Friday evening Castalian had its Christmas program. The Extem. Class was called and Jessie Lee spoke on "Christmas Presents;" Anna Palmer gave her ideas on the subject, "Should Children Be Taught to Believe in Santa Claus?" Elsie Tenney gave "Current Events;" the regular program followed: Paper, "Christmas in Other Lands," Helen Hughes; Original Story, "Christmas Eve," Bess Heindel; Recitation, "Going Somewhere for Christmas," Ruth Gilmore; Reading, Christmas Selections from Irving's Sketch Book, Estella Welty; Reproduction of Dickens' "Christmas Carol," Helen Cope; Recitation, "A Feel in the Christmas Air," Mary Irwin; "Linings to Make for Christmas," Hope Perry; Essay, "A Hint to the Fortunate," Connie Merrick. The society adjourned to meet on Jan. 7, 1910.

Lowell.

The meeting held last Friday evening was deserving of special comment. The essays by R. McDowell, Wallace and Wilson, also the declamation by McClure, were especially good. The extempore class was represented by G. Jones, Eddy, P. McDowell. In the debate, A. Jones and Crowl won over Avison and Moore on the question that coeducation is beneficial. In the election which followed, Wisner was chosen president for the next administration.

Willard.

Willard's musical program consisted of an excellent paper on McDowell, by Marguerite White, a sketch of Strauss by Helen Walker, which received commendation only, and a five minute talk on "Curious Musical Instruments," by Lillian Zinniger, which was both novel and instructive. The quartet then rendered a few selections on instruments of their own making. The remainder of the meeting was devoted to Parliamentary Drill. Willard will meet January 7th, for a program on English Novelists.

its readers A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year.* The Editor

AGAIN IT STALKS.

Once again the old bones have gathered themselves together, rattled and shaken off their dust; and out of the yawning "Patriotism" stalks the old form of College Spirit. It has slipped upon us before we have heard and could ward it off. "This is the day of free thought," writes one. "Can it be true that Wooster spirit has become immersed in the meshes of greed and commercialism that it can be used as a dart for the enemy?" writes another. One writes of an age, the other of an institution of an age; both disturb the form of College Spirit so thoughtfully deposed last year.

Whether or not it was originally intended to mean what the drift of the first article on Patriotism gave to the sentence "this is the age of free thought" does not matter since it goes now mean, by the development of the article, that this is the age of materialism. Free thought does not of a necessity mean thought that is materialistic. But the writer of the first article meant it so. When he writes Wooster should be severed from her "Christian connection," and this is the "age of progress, of great material advance," he could only mean that Christianity is a thing now laid by as a fraud and a fancy, so antiquated that Wooster should lose no time in breaking from its deceptive clutch. And altruistic he is; provided, of course, Christianity is a mistake. But the rest of the thinkers of this age do not say that the belief in Christ is such a deception. They accept free thought but refuse to make it materialistic. But if the author of the first article has so intellectually outbounded the other thinkers of his age that he can dogmatically state the absurdity of Christianity, he should go steadily ahead in his studies, which are equally advantageous for "fogies" and philosophers, for the petty influences of little Christian Wooster can never reach him. If he makes a man of himself he has proved Wooster's College Spirit, materialistic or not.

Our present age, on the other hand, is not the blind-man-buff game of the Middle Ages. It is an age of aim, determination and realization. The aim is manhood. It is completely an age of man. What there is in thought, free or restrained thought, Christian or materialistic thought, that has the force to determine and realize manhood, is the life of this age. If Christianity has this force, as history seems to hint, then if we should cut the tap-root of Wooster, would we break her from her Christian faith? But if Christianity is impotent then by all means let us rid Wooster of its burden and seek eagerly for an unknown power that can truly realize manhood. Wooster is not here to mould a wax statue and diligently label it Christian or materialist, but she is here to set her student firmly in this age of true man. And if the student makes this man of himself, materialist or no, he has proved Wooster's spirit.

To think it out, whether Christianity is a power in the realization of a man, is the work of each. It is the right of each to decide. But the student who develops his mind, as a man, by Wooster's advantages is proving the Wooster Spirit; equally strong is the student who develops his Christian faith as a man proving this same Spirit. Decide each must on the potency of Christianity; but history adds strength to the belief of the thinkers of this age, that there is in Christianity a power to our goal. Then let Wooster hold to it until some stronger power is found. Yet each student must decide for himself; but let him push the old bones of College Spirit back into their tomb and seal them there with the stamp of manhood.

On the evening of Dec. 9, at the Phi Gam House, the Senior boys were royally entertained, and had the viands dished out to them in profuse quantities. Two new men were by mystic rites initiated into the class after which there poured forth a steady stream of songs, stories and expressions of retrospect and prophecy—all enjoyed with huge delight as only Seniors are able to enjoy. The small hand of the clock was already beginning to descend when the husky warriors, with armor clanking and knives so keen that a hair to be severed needed but to fall on them, cast the die to do or not to do. "To do" turned up. Out into the frosty night the band broke forth with vengeance, and as it passed, no voice was heard to utter, no heart to palpitate, for fear was all-pervading. A halt, a cry, more cries, a slash. The deed was done. The Seniors reigned supreme.

Irving.

In spite of numerous other attractions a goodly number of loyal Irvingites were present at the meeting last Friday evening. After receiving one new member the following program was carried out:

Dialogue, Twinem and Putnam, Selection from Hamlet; Extempore Class, My Christmas Wishes, Forman; Current Events, Annat; Peanuts as a Staple Food, Wallace; The Winter Sport of Skating, March; Essay, Annat, The Indeterminate Sentence; Oration, Reeves, Child Labor; Debate, Aff., Stewart, Holden; Neg., March, Revennaugh.

After electing two new members and transacting important business, the society adjourned to meet Jan. 7, 1910.

Interclass GamesWEDNESDAY EVE., DEC. 8.*Juniors 42, Seniors 5.

Weakened by the absence of Crawford, their star guard, the Seniors went down to defeat before the Juniors in the first inter-class game of the season. The Seniors clearly outclassed their rivals in everything except floor-work and basket shooting. W. Compton and Avison starred for the Juniors. Compton in particular distinguished himself by some pretty basket-shooting.

For the Seniors, Lehman played the best game. In spite of the one-sided score, the game was interesting from start to finish.

Line-up:

Seniors.	Juniors.
Miller L. F.	Compton
Kithcart-
Griffith R. F.	Forman
Ervin C.	Collins
Lehman L. G.	Avison
Griffith-	Anderson-
Harrison R. G.	Marquart

Baskets thrown—Compton 7, Avison 4, Collins 3, Anderson 2, Forman, Marquart, Kithcart, Griffith.

Fouls—Compton, 3 out of 8; Griffith, 1 out of 2.

Freshmen 14, Preps 10.

The best game of the evening was furnished by the Freshmen and the Preps. The game was remarkable for close guarding and fast floor-work. W. Collins for the Freshmen showed improvement over his fine form of last year, scoring 11 of the 14 points for the Freshmen. H. Collins played a good game for the Preps and Martin showed himself to be one of the best guards in school. Every man on both teams played a good game. Line-up:

Freshmen.	Preps.
Fulton L. F.	Taggart
Miller R. F.	Collins, H.
Collins, W. C.	Stewart
Maurer R. G.	Avison
Compton, A. L. G.	Martin

Baskets thrown—Collins, W., 5, Collins, H., 3, Stewart, Fulton. Fouls—W. Collins, 1 out of 3; Fulton, 1 out of 1; Stewart, 2 out of 4.

THURSDAY, DEC. 9.Freshmen 19, Juniors 22.

One of the best games of the series was played Thursday evening by the Juniors and Freshmen. The game was very fast, both sides working hard for the victory. The Juniors were practically outplayed except in the last three minutes of play when they rushed the Freshmen off their feet and forged to the front. Hezzy Avison was much in evidence throughout the contest, while Maurer for the Freshmen also played a splendid game. Line-up:

Freshmen.	Juniors.
Collins, W. L. F.	Compton, W.
Maurer R. F.	Forman
Fulton C.	Collins, F.
Compton, A. R. G.	Avison
	Marquart-
Miller L. G.	Anderson

Baskets thrown—Avison 6, Maurer 4, Compton, W., 3, Collins, W., 2, Fulton 2, Miller, Anderson. Fouls—Compton, 2 out of 4; Fulton, 1 out of 2.

Sophomores 7, Preps 24.

On account of the quarantine of the Betas, the Sophomores were compelled to present a badly patched line-up, and the Preps found no trouble in defeating them by a somewhat lopsided score. The Preps again put up a scrappy game. H. Collins led in the scoring with 6 baskets. Taggart also played well, while Stewart, Avison and Martin were very aggressive. Corry put up the best game for the Sophs.

Line-up:

Preps.	Sophs.
Taggart L. F.	Beck
	Devor-
Collins, H. R. F.	March
Stewart C.	Corry
Avison R. G.	Putnam
	March-
Martin L. G.	Devor

Baskets thrown—H. Collins 6, Taggart 2, Stewart 2, Corry 2, Martin. Fouls—Stewart, 1 out of 3; Taggart, 1 out of 1; Beck, 3 out of 5.

SATURDAY, DEC. 11th.Preps 37, Seniors 3.

A very small crowd saw two one-sided games on Saturday. In fact, the attendance during the entire week was a disappointment.

The first game, between the Preps and Seniors, was a walk-a-way for the Academy lads. To show that they do not lack abundant basketball material, the Seniors ran in several subs, who played well. Harrison in particular made some pretty tackles, while Ervin made one long run with the ball. H. Collins again starred for the Preps, and Taggart, Stewart, Martin and Avison gave him able support.

Line-up:

Seniors.	Preps.
West-	Taggart-
Griffith L. F.	Stewart
Kithcart-
Miller R. F.	Collins, H.
Ervin-	Stewart-
Johnson C.	Wisner
Harrison R. G.	Martin
Ervin-	Avison-
Lehman L. G.	Davis

Baskets thrown—Collins 3, Taggart 2, Stewart 2, Martin 2, Avison, Griffith. Fouls—Taggart, 3 out of 5; Kithcart, 1 out of 3.

Freshmen 27, Sophs 12.

In a rather uninteresting game the Freshmen defeated the Sophomores, 27 to 12. That this and the preceding game were very rough is shown by the fact that 37 fouls were called. W. Collins and Miller did most of the scoring for the Freshmen, while Corry and March led their team-mates in scoring. Line-up:

Freshmen.

Sophs.

W. Collins L. F.	Beck-Wallace
Fulton R. F.	Putnam

Y. M. C. A.

"Real Ideals" was the topic presented by Garvin in the mid-week Y. M. C. A. Among other things, he emphasized the ideals of the ministers, and the desire to be men among men. We who contemplate entering the ministry must guard ourselves from thinking that we shall become great pulpit orators in some of our large cities; but, on the other hand, try to attain the ideal doing the most for Christ, and to touch the personality of the men during the week. Service is the great ideal that we should aim to realize. Service, controlled by a love for all things good and noble, makes the real man. In addition, most men desire to become prominent. This, according to Dr. Greg, results when man distinguishes himself. Success in life is summed up in pluck, truthfulness, courage, integrity, punctuality, consideration, and love for service. The great men try to attain ideals as set forth in the Bible. The same power that made Jacob what he became, can turn a man today, like the sculptor the rough piece of marble, from bad to good. The real ideal will be attained, if we remain close to the true ideal of Jesus Christ.

CLASS SOCIALS.

Saturday Evening, Dec. 11.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Senior social was held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, where "rough-house" was not permitted, a happy function was pulled off. That four years of college life together has served to bring about very friendly relations was shown by the intimate manner in which each one was greeted—the word greeted is used, even if some incidents did take place at the "parting of the ways." A good jolly time was spent, refreshments were served, and games were again continued until the lights blinked the closing of the first real Senior social.

The Juniors certainly had fun. Mention the class social of Saturday night to any one of the class and watch him take notice. A "back-woods" social was the aim, and if a stranger from the wilds had been present to view the "ratless" ladies and the tintless-socked young swains, he would have felt at home. Appropriate games were played, much to the pleasure of the Juniors and the chagrin of the janitor. The best social since the organization of the class.

On the same evening that the Juniors and Seniors held their socials, the Freshmen were entertained in a pleasing manner at the home of Dr. Holden. A cordial welcome was extended the class and the function fully served its purpose in making the new students better acquainted. The evening, spent in various forms of amusement, passed too quickly and when the time for parting came everyone went home with the realization that the occasion was a very happy one.

The President's Message in 100 Words.

Taft favors increased Eastern trade, English fisheries settlement, civil pensions for inefficients, less army and navy expense, higher second class postage, postal savings banks. Rejoices in national prosperity, cordial oriental relations, Bolivia-Peru and U. S.-Venezuela settlements. Recommends tariff law enforcement, economy, continuation of Panama Canal bonds, hastier legal procedure, ship subsidy, health bureau, N. Mex. and Ariz. admitted separately, filing campaign contributions. Approves investigation of treasury employees and customs frauds. Disapproves American enterprise in inequitable countries, Monroe Doctrine perpetuating irresponsible government, further tariff revision, unannounced restraining injunctions, local Alaskan legislature, "White slave trade." Webster's NEW INTERNATIONAL Dictionary, (G. & C. Merriam Co., Springfield, Mass.) surpasses the old International as much as that book exceeded its predecessor. On the old foundation a new superstructure has been built. The reconstruction has been carried on through many years by a large force of trained workers, under the supervision of Dr. W. T. Harris, former United States Commissioner of Education, and reinforced by many eminent specialists. The definitions have been rearranged and amplified. The number of terms defined has been more than doubled. The etymology, synonyms, pronunciation, have received unsparing scholarly labor. The language of English literature for over seven centuries, the terminology of the arts and sciences, and the every-day speech of street, shop, and household, are presented with fullness and clearness. In size of vocabulary, in richness of general information, and in convenience of consultation, the book sets a new mark in lexicography.

400,000 words and phrases.

6000 illustrations.

2700 pages.

Ask your bookseller for the NEW INTERNATIONAL or write to the publishers for Specimen Pages. You will do us a favor to mention this publication.

REFERENCES:—

"Reuben: His Book," 300 pages, by Morton H. Pemberton, Columbia, Mo.

Champ Clark says: "I read 'Reuben: His Book,' with intense delight. I haven't laughed so much since I first read Mark Twain. There is nearly as much philosophy as humor in it. The book ought to make 'Reuben' fame and fortune."

W. J. Bryan writes: "I am glad that 'Reuben' is going to be put in a form where it can be obtained by the general public. It deserves a wide circulation. Its wise philosophy is presented in a style that engages the attention and fixes it in the memory."

J. V. C. Karnes says: "It is full of philosophy, remarkably well told, and interesting in its every word."

Robert J. Burdette says: "Keep 'Reuben' busy. He is doing good in the world."

For the Ethics class: Given—A fugitive from an insane asylum abroad in the land, carrying a gun and much ammunition, having killed a sheriff, and keeping the country in terror. Was it right that sharpshooters be sent to shoot him down?

Athenaeum took action last Friday night to back the matter about to come before the student senate with regard to placing oratorical work on a basis similar to that of the athletic association.

Freshman (on Holden Hall steps)—"You won't call Mrs. Walker, if I kiss you, will you?"

Prep Girl—"You wouldn't kiss her, too, would you?"

Echoes of Miami Union's last debate on the question of making chapel attendance optional:

"Faculty members go to chapel to look at the students."

"If the more worthless and reckless summer school students attend chapel when it is optional, surely we regular students would also attend."

"If required chapel attendance helps murderers in the penitentiary, it ought to help college students."

The Review of Reviews

first, because it is a necessity—that is the rule in magazine buying of America's intellectual aristocracy. It is indispensable to the busy business man, who must keep abreast of the times, because it gives him the real news of the day in concise, readable form; it is invaluable to the thinking man, who demands only the truth and then draws his own conclusions, because it gives him just plain, straight facts.

It is helpful to the whole family. In it you will find a monthly picture of men and affairs by Dr. Albert Shaw, in his comprehensive editorial, "Progress of the World;" a clever cartoon history of the month; book reviews; the gist of the best which has appeared in the other magazines and newspapers of the world; pithy character sketches; and interesting articles on the all-important topics of the day. Authoritative, non-partisan, timely and very much to the point, "it's a liberal education," is the way subscribers express it.

THE WOOSTER VOICE

A HUMBLE SONG

If I may never rear
Some wondrous fane of song,
Still let me speak in accents clear,
So that my brethren all may hear
A message, sweet and strong.

All that I feel this hour,
Of truth and joy and love:
The message of the autumn flower;
The secret of the rose's bower;
The joy sent from above;

The little, silent deed
That some sick, sad heart cheers;
The sympathy that comes in need—
To these my song shall give its meed
Of praise, throughout the years.

I'd rather sing the song
That poor souls understand,
Than roll the epic lines along
In which the armor'd heroes throng,
And blood stains all the land.

A song like Jesus sung,
So many years ago,
Out in the field where lilies flung
Their sun-kiss'd petals down among
The flowers that grew below.

Such song will not lack truth,
Such song will not lack strength,
But rather have th' eternal youth
Of Christ's own love, and e'en, forsooth,
Its breadth and depth and length!
